

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

The writer found out that English was very important and during her internship, English became one of the supporting language, besides Indonesian language. The writer also realized that when it comes to a task related to communication. English has a role to be the second language when communicating with people who do not speak Indonesian.

After the internship, the writer got experience to be an assistant producer. She have learned so many things about broadcasting world, especially for those who works behind the scene. They have a very important position in mantaining the success of a radio.

The writer used internship as one of her link to get a job in a field that she has been interested with. She chose Prima Radio because she thinks that Prima Radio is a good place to learn new things, remembering that most of the staffs are still young. Fortunately, the writer got hired after the internship is done. She is now become the main producer of “Kantor Pak Jon”, the program that she handled when she had her internship.

This radio has given good experience for the writer. All of the workers treated her well during the internship and they patiently taught the writer all the things that she did not know about being a producer. Prima Radio has complete facilities. When it is compared to another radio in Surabaya, the writer found that Prima Radio has a very comfortable and friendly working environment. Prima

Radio is highly suggested for those who wants to do an internship but still has another thing to do, because the schedule in Prima Radio is very flexible and they do not mind to accept active students.
