ABSTRACT

ISLAMIC ECONOMICS BACHELOR DEGREE THESIS

NAME : IZZADIN NUR MUHAMMAD
STUDENT ID NUMBER : 041411431029
COMPOSING YEAR : 2017-2018

TITLE :
The Effect of Financing To Deposit Ratio (FDR), Placements in Bank Indonesia, and Inflation On Securities Investment of Sharia Commercial Banks in Indonesia June 2014-December 2017

CONTENT :
The aims of this research is to learn the investment management applied in financial intermediary institution of sharia society and able to give information about the effects of FDR, FASBIS, SBIS and Inflation on Securities Investment in bank function as intermediary and investor.

Variable financing to deposit ratio (FDR), fund placement in FASBIS, fund placement in SBIS, and inflation simultaneously all have a significant positive effect on sharia securities investment in syariah bank in Indonesia in period of June 2014 - December 2017 at significance α 5 % with a probability of 0.00000. While the variable financing to deposit ratio (FDR), placement of funds in FASBIS, placement of funds in SBIS, and inflation have a negative and significant effect on the amount of investment sharia bank securities in Indonesia period 2014 - 2017

Keywords : Investment of Sharia Securities, Syariah Bank, FDR, FASBIS, SBIS