Dear Rochmah Kurnijasanti

Regarding your manuscript "Antokxidant potential of fermented garlic (Allium sativum L) on spermatogenic and Sertoli cells count of mice (Mus musculus) exposed to heat".

The topic is interesting and worth investigating. There are some suggestions for improvement: The abstract should be rewritten. Please, form the abstract in the following manner. First, describe the background of the research (1-2 sentences). Second, describe the research goals (1-2 sentences). Third, describe briefly (1-2 sentences) the methodology used. Fourth, describe the results and the research conclusion in 3-4 sentences. In the Methodology sector, please add the statement about the procedure (also about ethical considerations).nIn the last section, please focus on Conclusion" to include future studies and recommendations

Best Regard

Dear Prof.Dr.F.E.Arango

Chief Editor

Interciencia Journal

Thank you for reviewing our manuscript entitled. We thank the reviewers for the valuable insight and comments as these serve to further strengthen our manuscript. As requested, we have provided a point-by-point response to each of the reviewers' comments with relevant changes made to the manuscript. I have corrected the manuscript according to the suggestions from the reviewers as follows: We have improved the abstract as suggested by reviewer. I have explained the research background, described the research objectives, explained the methodology used and described the results and conclusion. We have added to the method a statement about procedures and ethical considerations. In the conclusion we have added the implications of the paper in future studies and recommendations. We thank the Reviewer for the positive review. Thank you for considering our revised manuscript.

Sincerely

Rochmah Kurnijasanti
