Title: Social Capital for Flood Disaster Management: Case Study of Flooding in a Village of Bengawan Solo Riverbank, Tuban, East Java Province
Journal: International Journal of Disaster Risk Reduction

Dear Dr. Rustinsyah,

The referees have reviewed your paper, as listed above. Their comments (reproduced below) indicate that it would benefit from substantial revision. Hence, I invite you to rework and resubmit your manuscript. Please carefully address the issues raised in the comments. When you send your revised manuscript, please also provide a point-by-point response to the referees' criticisms, including the section and line numbers of all revisions, and highlighting all changes in the text.

To submit your revised manuscript:

- Log into EVISE® at: http://www.evise.com/evise/faces/pages/navigation/NavController.jspx?JRNL_ACR=IJDRR
- Locate your manuscript under the header 'My Submissions that need Revisions' on your 'My Author Tasks' view
- Click on 'Agree to Revise'
- Make the required edits
- Click on 'Complete Submission' to approve

What happens next?

After you approve your submission preview you will receive a notification that the submission is complete. To track the status of your paper throughout the editorial process, log in to Evise® at: http://www.evise.com/evise/faces/pages/navigation/NavController.jspx?JRNL_ACR=IJDRR.

Enrich your article to present your research with maximum impact. This journal supports the following Content Innovations:

Data in Brief (optional):

We invite you to convert your supplementary data (or a part of it) into an additional journal publication in Data in Brief, a multi-disciplinary open access journal. Data in Brief articles are a fantastic way to describe supplementary data and associated metadata, or full raw datasets deposited in an external repository, which are otherwise unnoticed. A Data in Brief article (which will be reviewed, formatted, indexed, and given a DOI) will make your data easier to find, reproduce, and cite.

You can submit to Data in Brief via the International Journal of Disaster Risk Reduction submission system when you upload your revised International Journal of Disaster Risk Reduction manuscript. To do so, complete the template and follow the co-submission instructions found here: www.elsevier.com/dib-template. If your International Journal of Disaster Risk Reduction manuscript is accepted, your Data in Brief submission will automatically be transferred to Data in Brief for editorial review and publication.

Please note: an open access Article Publication Charge (APC) is payable by the author or research funder to cover the costs associated with publication in Data in Brief and ensure your data article is immediately and permanently free to access by all. For the current APC see: <https://www.elsevier.com/journals/data-in-brief/2352-3409/open-access-journal>

Please contact the Data in Brief editorial office at dib-me@elsevier.com or visit the Data in Brief homepage (www.journals.elsevier.com/data-in-brief/) if you have questions or need further information.

I look forward to receiving your revised manuscript as soon as possible.

Kind regards,

Dr. Maly
Associate Editor
International Journal of Disaster Risk Reduction

Comments from the editors and reviewers:

-Reviewer 1

The paper deals with a topic that is relevant around the globe. The methodology is suitable but not new. But the main difficulty with the manuscript is the poor language. Please have it professionally proof-read and re-written. Some of the other issues with the paper include lack of information on graphics, poor resolution of figures, repetitive descriptions, poor formatting of Table 1, poor organization of the material etc. For example, lines 631 to 647 and 667 to 675 are better suited to the study area. In short the paper can be revised and resubmitted for consideration.

-Reviewer 2

Social Capital for Flood Disaster Management: Case Study of Flooding in a Village of Bengawan Solo Riverbank, Tuban, East Java Province

The authors seek to describe social capital in flood disaster management in a village of Tuban, East Java Province. They use a qualitative research approach to collect and analyze data. Findings are discussed.

This topic is very relevant and important in the disaster management field. However, the manuscript, in its current form cannot be accepted for publication. There are many issues with this manuscript. These issues include, not clearly stating the purpose of the paper, inadequate literature section, poorly developed methodology section, and poor presentation and flow of the paper. These issues are discussed below:

Purpose of the study

The statement in the manuscript indicating the purpose of this study is not very clear. For eg. the sentence, "This study aims to describe the social capital in flood disaster management on the Bengawan Solo Riverbank" does not make much sense. The authors have to restate the purpose in a more clear and succinct manner that is easy to understand.

Literature Review Section

The authors have to do a better job in improving their literature review section. Most of the literature referred in this manuscript seems to be very old. The authors have not referenced any current literature. The most recent papers the authors have referred to is at least six years old. The authors need to strengthen this section by examining some recent papers.

Further, the authors have to provide adequate citations to support many of their statements in this manuscript. For example, on line 1333, "Participation and cooperation between stakeholders who have goals for flood food is called social capital" needs citations. Other examples are on line 289 "Bonding social capital is described as a relationship.....needs."; 292 "Bridging social capital is the existence of furtherfirst.", and 297 "Linking social capital is described ascapital.". There several similar examples throughout the manuscript.

Methodology Section

The authors have to do a better job in developing their methodology section. For eg., It would have been good if the authors had provided some rationales on their approach for data collection (observation, interviews, reviews of documents related to flooding issues, and focus group discussion). What are, if any, the relationship between the three different stages of data collection? It would have also been good to provide the interview guide to help the reader better understand the type of data collected.

Presentation and Flow of paper

The manuscript doesn't flow well and it is extremely difficult to read and understand. There are lot of typos, missing words, and sentences that does not make complete sense. For example, on line 37 it reads "One an important strategy for managing floods is it to strengthen social capital". I think the "an" and "it" should be removed from this sentence. Another is on line 48 "..... on an evaluations of flood management". They should not be a "S" on "evaluations"

Similarly, there are many sentences that are difficult to understand. For example "To reduce the impact of flood damage, management is needed in disaster management" on line 177. Another example is on line 200 "Second, as strategies, efforts, and actions in dealing with disasters which occur in an effort to minimize the risk of flood disaster". A third example is on line 115 "Third, the recovery of the impact of the flood disaster is an effort to restore environmental and community conditions due to the flood disaster".

Such typos and grammatical mistakes makes the audience lose interest in the manuscript. The authors have to do a thorough job of editing the entire manuscript.

Other Issues

Some other issues include some citations not in the reference section (e.g. Wooclock and Narayan, 2019 on line 400).

Thus, a lot of work is required before this manuscript can be accepted for publication. I recommend the authors take their time, revisit the topic, do an exhaustive literature review, improve their methodology section, and do a thorough edit. Given the enormity of task involved, at this point, I recommend a reject for this manuscript.

-Reviewer 3

Figures 1 and 2 need to be submitted as high quality images. There are quite a lot of very minor English errors. I have made suggested corrections on the copy of the paper which I have scanned and uploaded. I have no criticisms of your research and methods and found it a fascinating insight into a very hazard prone river system.

MethodsX (optional)

We invite you to submit a method article alongside your research article. This is an opportunity to get full credit for the time and money you have spent on developing research methods, and to increase the visibility and impact of your work.

If your research article is accepted, your method article will be automatically transferred over to the open access journal, MethodsX, where it will be editorially reviewed and published as a separate method article upon acceptance. Both articles will be linked on ScienceDirect.

Please use the MethodsX template available here when preparing your article: <https://www.elsevier.com/MethodsX-template>. Open access fees apply.
