December 23, 2020

Greetings Second African IEOM Society Conference attendees:

On behalf of the IEOM Society Global Council and the University of Zimbabwe Conference Organizing Committee, we would like to thank you for participating in this international virtual event. The opportunity to participate in the Zimbabwe conference earlier this month brought together representatives from around the globe. The IEOM Society is pleased that many African countries were able to participate in this virtual event. We were overwhelmed by the support and participation from the University of Zimbabwe and the University of Johannesburg. The feedback received from many of you was decisively positive and provided exceptional value.

The Second African IEOM Society Zimbabwe Conference had strong representation from industry. The industry keynote and industry solutions speakers included BOSCH, Econet Wireless Zimbabwe Limited, Siemens, Old Mutual Zimbabwe, Emerald Global Consulting, First National Bank of Botswana, Amor Health Services, Financial Security Exchange Zimbabwe, Sustenergy Zimbabwe, Energy and Information Logistics Group Limited (EIL), Glow Initiative for Economic Empowerment, Nigeria, Seedco, among others. Academia, both faculty and students from five continents, were well represented. More than 50 countries participated in the event.

One of the many highlights of the conference was the session on "Diversity and Inclusion." Dr. Wilkistar Otieno, Associate Professor, Chair Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering, University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee, was the panel chair. Dr. Otieno orchestrated a masterful and powerful, engaging discussion. The Ford Motor Company sponsored the panel session.

Although this was a virtual event, it did not prevent participants from engaging in dialogue with other attendees. The interaction and exchange of ideas flowed freely. The conference brought together many participants who had not previously attended an IEOM Society event. The IEOM Society Organizing Committee would like to acknowledge all first-time attendees.

We look forward to your participation in future IEOM Society activities - <http://ieomsociety.org/ieom/conferences/>.

Many of you have asked about Scopus indexing. Papers presented at the conference will be indexed on Scopus. The IEOM Society will provide Scopus with the documentation required for indexing; however, this process will take time. We will notify participants regarding the completion of the Scopus indexing process. IEOM publication team may contact authors if any modification is needed. Papers will be published in the IEOM proceedings page - <http://ieomsociety.org/ieom/proceedings/> and IEOM Forefront - <http://www.ieomsociety.org/forefront/>.

If you are not yet a member of the IEOM Society International, we encourage you to do so. Information on general, university, corporate membership, student and professional chapters, and upcoming activities is available on our website: <http://ieomsociety.org/>. The IEOM Society's foundation consists of our members, and as a member, you will receive exceptional value.

If your institution does have an IEOM Student Chapter, IEOM team urges you to open at IEOM Student Chapter. You can also open a professional country chapter. You can find details on the chapter page - <http://ieomsociety.org/ieom/chapters/>.

The IEOM Society would like to thank our sponsors, co-chairs, students, keynote speakers, and session chairs for supporting the conference. A special thanks to all zoom hosts for providing dedicated support for four days during the virtual conference.

We look forward to your participation in the 11th IEOM Society International Conference in Singapore, March 7-11, 2021. Conference registration and paper submission are open and can be on the IEOM Society website: <http://ieomsociety.org/singapore2021/>.

Stay safe – stay well!

Dear Yunias:

We are sorry for sending the email mentioning that the paper/abstract has been added. In fact, it is the links of the paid papers which are added not the actual Papers.

We still need some time to actually upload papers in the proceedings.
Once again, we are sorry for the mistake and we appreciate your patience.

Thanks and Regards.
