Reviewer no. 50078074_13804DP

Title and abstract

The authors are requested to revise this manuscript to make the content and the diagnosis clear, to provide more details and supporting References in the Background section, to write the main Case Report clearly and chronologically, to clearly describe what may be learned from this case, and to reduce the number of Figure images and provide a clear description of what the images show.

1. This case appears to be of a 43-year-old woman with a history of multiple cesarean sections with who required laparoscopy for abdominal adhesions, and removal of an intrauterine device - IUD - from a uterine cesarean delivery scar. Throughout the manuscript, please be clear and consistent with this diagnosis.
2. Please read and follow the Instructions for Authors for the American Journal of Case Reports and format the manuscript and the References correctly.
3. Publications are searched and cited based on the clarity and content of the Title, and the Abstract, and are searched on PubMed using MeSH Keywords.
4. Therefore, a clear and descriptive Title is required. Laparoscopy for Abdominal Adhesions and Removal of an Intrauterine Device from a Uterine Cesarean Delivery Scar in a 43-Year-Old Woman with Three Previous Cesarean Sections.
5. Please write the content of the Abstract as clearly as possible. The Background subsection of the Abstract should clearly state the aim of the report.... This report is of a 43-year-old woman with a history of three previous cesarean sections who required laparoscopy for abdominal adhesions, and removal of an IUD from a uterine cesarean delivery scar.
6. Please use MeSH Keywords from PubMed..... intrauterine device, IUD, cesarean section, adhesions, case report.

Introduction

7. Please provide more content in the main Background section, add supporting References, and support each statement of fact with a Reference.
8. Please introduce previously published similar cases so that you can compare your case with these in the main Discussion section. For example, ... Gyasi-Sarpong CK, Manu Maison PO, Morhe E, et al. Intravesical migration of an intrauterine device. BMC Res Notes. 2016;9:4. and *Vahdat M, Gorginzadeh M, Mousavi AS, Afshari E, Ghaed MA. Cystoscopic removal of a migrated intrauterine device to the bladder; a case report. Contracept Reprod Med. 2019;4:7. and *Liu G, Li F, Ao M, Huang G. Intrauterine devices migrated into the bladder: two case reports and literature review. BMC Womens Health. 2021;21(1):301.
9. Please end the main Background section with the aim of the report This report is of a 43-year-old woman with a history of three previous cesarean sections who required laparoscopy for abdominal adhesions, and removal of an IUD from a uterine cesarean delivery scar.

CASE REPORT:

10. Please write the content of the main Case Report clearly and chronologically as the diagnosis is not clear.
11. Please clearly state whether the IUD was in the uterine scar or whether it had transmigrated through to the bladder, because this is not clear.
12. Please define all abbreviations when first used. 13. Please give the full details of the equipment used, with their source. For example, - IUD (Nova T; Bayer) - should be written as, NOVA T 380 IUD (Bayer Corporation, Leverkusen, Germany). For example, oxidized regenerated cellulose (Interceed®; Ethicon Inc.) - should be written as, an Interceed oxidized regenerated cellulose adhesion barrier (Ethicon Inc., Somerville, NJ, USA).
