

SYNOPSIS

Man and Boy tells about a man named Harry Silver who reaches at his thirtieth years old at the time. Harry is a married man and a father as well. He works as a television producer of a famous show called “The Marty Man Show”. Harry has married to a beautiful woman named Gina that he met in his office when Gina became his guest star. After they married Gina gave birth to their son who named after Harry’s father, Pat. The story takes time after his son is about five years old.

In the beginning of the story, it tells that Harry is about to reach at thirtieth years old. And he is wondering that he should celebrate his birthday more youthful. He wants to feel the youth pleasure once more time since he realizes that he is getting older and cannot do such things in the future. After all, he buys a car which for him symbolize as a youth pleasure. And this leads him to have an affair with a young girl who happens to be his new assistant. His wife finally figures it out and leaves him with Pat to Japan. Harry ends up being a single parent and personally has to cope with the unusual situation that he never experiences. In the middle of being a single parent, he has to lose his job and also has to face the fact that his father, who he adore very much as a role model since he was a kid, is critically ill caused by cancer lungs.

In the end of the story his father is passed away. Moreover, he has to decide whether giving his son custody to his wife or not. After all, Harry learns some values from his father that he thinks he has learnt when he was a kid. He gives his son custody to his wife and starts a new life with a girl named Cyd.