

SYNOPSIS

Hamunaptra 290 B.C. The story begins in the Imhotep's house. He is the highest priest of Pharaoh and keeper of the death. In the Imhotep's house, there was Anck-su-namun. She is the mistress of Pharaoh and no other man was allowed touching Anck-su-namun except him. But Imhotep and Anck-su-namun were falling in love. Still in the same place when Imhotep and Anck-su-namun were intimate, Pharaoh came and felt suspicious because there was someone's fingerprint at Anck-su-namun's body. Imhotep came out from his shelter and stabbed Pharaoh with a samurai. Before all of Pharaoh's guards came, Anck-su-namun said to Imhotep to get out from there because she said that only he could make her live again. Imhotep promised to resurrect her. When Pharaoh's guards came, Anck-su-namun suicided and stabbed herself with a samurai. To resurrect Anck-su-namun, Imhotep went to Hamunaptra or city of the death (the place of ancient funeral for the clan of Pharaoh and resting place for royal family in Egypt) and stole her corpse. For his love, Imhotep challenged his custom and took the book of death from the holy place. In the middle of the resurrection process, all of Pharaoh's guards came and all of Imhotep's priests who punished became mummy and Imhotep got Hom-Dai punishment (the most mortally ancient curse). He was made mummy when he still lived and before that his tongue was cut by Pharaoh's guards. They made sure that he never could get out from there. If he was released from it, an epidemic would be happened.

Hamunaptra 1923. In the next generation, there was a battle, but Magi (Pharaoh' guards) always watch over Imhotep case. Still in the same city there was a woman whose name is Evy. She is a librarian and has ability to write and read in ancient Egypt language and know everything about the history of ancient Egypt. Evy has a young brother whose name is Jonathan. One day, Jonathan gave Evy something. he said that he found it in the dig place at Thebes. When Evy opened it, she found a map. Evy said that it was Hamunaptra writing, but no one believed her. One day Evy knew that Jonathan was stealing it from O'Connel.

Half of them believe about the story, but the other didn't believe about that and only looking for the hidden treasure in the Hamunaptra. With different purposes, they went to Hamunaptra together, and each of them did a fatal mistake that make the strongest mummy (Imhotep' mummy) apart from a curse. With a big strength from O'Connel, Evy, and Jonathan, finally they succeed to destroy the mummy.
