ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, I will show my gratitude to the Lord above, for Your blessings throughout my life, especially in the moment of making this thesis. Without Your guidance and support, I will not come to this point. Thank You, for giving me such a beautiful family and friends.

The next gratitude is addressed to my parents. Thanks to both of you, Mama and Papa, for raising me and pouring my life with your unconditional love, for being so patient with my mistakes, for sharing your experiences in life, for being my friends, and for supporting me in your own ways. Papa, thank you for your ideas and non-stop support when I got stuck and got bored in doing this thesis. Mama, thank you for understanding my unpredictable moods and me. I love both of you until the day I die, and I hope I can make you happy before that day comes.

I also want to say thanks to people who have special places in my heart. My younger brothers Edo and Esdras, and my one and only little sister, Emilia, I love you all. Especially to Edo, thanks a lot for being my loyal driver. To my best friends: Rizki Widiastuti and Yeane Prahianingdiah, thanks a million for our friendship all this time.

I want to show my appreciation to my thesis advisor, Dra. Sudar Itafarida, M. Hum, for her guidance, patience, and support in helping me doing my thesis. To my other lecturers who are very kind in teaching me during my study in this dear English Department of Airlangga University, thank you for sharing your knowledge and happiness in our tours of PKLs.

To my other friends who are not less important than the preceding persons: the seniors of '94 and '95, thank you for your back up and advices, and especially for being my big brothers and sisters I have never had. Thank you to my '96 friends, the '97 students, the '98-ers, the students of '99 and 2000. To my friends in KKN, thank you for the beautiful and unforgettable three-week in Blitar. To all the people I forget to mention, I am awfully sorry and thank you very much.
