Dear Dian Agustin

Thank you for submitting your manuscript:

Accuracy of Radiographic and protrusive occlusal record methods in determining condylar guidance angles- A systematic review and Meta-analysis

Luke AM et al.

Funders: no grant funding was stated during submission.

As of 1st September 2020, Article Processing Charges (APCs) on F1000Research are based on article type rather than article length. Charges are payable once the article has been accepted for publication. A full explanation of the price transparency breakdown for the article type categories is available here.

WHAT WE DO NEXT

Before accepting your article: we will check content suitability, readability and manuscript format; adherence to ethical standards for the type of study; that the underlying data have been supplied (where appropriate); and that there is sufficient detail to enable others to replicate the study (if applicable).

Before publishing your article: if we accept your article, we will be in touch as soon as possible with any issues that need addressing. You will then receive a final proof of your article for approval, prior to publication.

WHAT YOU NEED TO DO NEXT

Before doing anything else, we need you to suggest at least 5 suitable reviewers to peer review your manuscript following publication (in accordance with our publishing model), should it be accepted. We ask that authors do not contact reviewers directly about the peer review process. We will need your reviewer suggestions before we can publish the article so we recommend identifying them now via your Suggest Reviewers page for this article. You can also access this page via the article's record at My Research >> Submissions.

Please quote the article number 75347 in any correspondence.

Kind regards

The F1000Research Team

Dear Dian Agustin,

Accuracy of radiographic and protrusive occlusal record methods in determining condylar guidance angles: a systematic review and meta-analysis

Luke AM, Kuriadom ST, George JM and Wahjuningrum DA

We have just published a peer review report for your article on F1000Research, which you can read here.

If you wish to respond to the reviewer, please go to the link above and click 'Respond to this report' below the report. When responding to a peer review report, please try and make sure you are logged into the account that you originally used for the submission of this article, otherwise we cannot identify your response as being from an author. Please allow up to one working day for your comments to appear. If you 'Track' the article, you will automatically be alerted to any other reports or comments made.

NB: Your article will pass peer review and be indexed in PubMed, PMC, Scopus, Embase and other indexing sites, if you receive either two 'Approved' statuses, or two 'Approved with Reservations' statuses and one 'Approved' status from the reviewers.

In order to ensure that peer review proceeds quickly and you get at least one more report, we recommend that you suggest additional reviewers. Please visit Suggest Reviewers, where you will find a useful tool to help you find reviewers; you can also access this page via the article's record under My Research >> Submissions. See also our reviewer criteria and tips for finding reviewers.

We would recommend waiting for additional peer review reports before starting on any article revisions.

Best regards,

Helena

Dear Dian Agustin

Accuracy of radiographic and protrusive occlusal record methods in determining condylar guidance angles: a systematic review and meta-analysis

Luke AM, Kuriadom ST, George JM and Wahjuningrum DA

I hope you're well. As your article requires further reviewer suggestions, we have selected some potential reviewers which we would like you to check, so that we can invite them to review your article.

The suggested reviewers meet our suitability criteria, and according to our assessment appear to be appropriate for your paper. Please look at the Suggestions Awaiting Approval section of your Suggest Reviewers page to check whether they have an appropriate level of expertise, and don't (as far as you are aware) have any relevant conflicts of interest. Please either approve or reject the suggestions.

As these suggested reviewers have already passed our internal checks, if you don't reject them within 2 days we will assume that they are suitable and will invite them to review your article.

Best regards,

Helena

Dear Dian Agustin,

I'm pleased to let you know that your article: "Accuracy of radiographic and protrusive occlusal record methods in determining condylar guidance angles: a systematic review and meta-analysis" has just been published on F1000Research.

The Peer Review Process

We are now inviting the reviewers you have suggested. As part of their reports, reviewers are asked to provide a recommendation of 'Approved', 'Approved with Reservations' or 'Not Approved', and their report will be published alongside the article with their full name and affiliation. You will be able to respond to any published reports with a comment and/or by publishing revisions as a new version of your article – we will send you instructions on how to proceed when you begin to receive reports.

It is important that authors do not contact the reviewers directly, as this could result in invalidating their report.

Please note that we will ask you for additional reviewer suggestions if the invited reviewers decline. In order to avoid any delays with the peer review of your article, please continue to check your Suggest Reviewers page for updates and respond to any email requests as soon as you can.

Linking Your Data

Now that your article has been published and assigned a DOI (10.12688/f1000research.75347.1) we would strongly recommend that you include this DOI in the metadata of any published dataset associated with this article. If you would like assistance with this, please contact our editorial team.

Increasing Discoverability

Now that your article has been published, why not take advantage of the tools we provide to help maximize your article's reach and share your article using the Email and Share options on the article page.

Your article will be listed in ePMC shortly as a preprint, and then updated once it has passed peer review.
