Reviewer #1: Please refer to the attached document.

Reviewer #2: Thank you for inviting me to review the paper. The paper addressed issue of community behavioral change and its antecedents related to the pandemic management in Indonesia. Overall, the paper is well written and easy to read. The analyses were carefully done for the questionnaires and the results were interesting. I can see the effort of the authors to collect the data during pandemic in understanding the relationship between behavioral skills and behavioral change. Several concerns as follows:
1. In the abstract, the study claims that their study 'contributes to providing new insights and knowledge on pandemic management with the research setting of Indonesia as a country that has complex characteristics in terms of religion and belief, demography, culture, economy, and politics'. How the study take into consideration the complex characteristics stated in their analysis?
2. In the methodology section, the authors mentioned about focus group discussions as follows: "The focus group discussions were conducted with the representatives of various community groups such as COVID-19 survivors, lecturers, students, and other public members". What are the questions asked during the FGD? There is no tabulated info regarding the representatives of FGD in the descriptive statistics.
3. In the discussion section, it is rare to find article using number point in explaining the results. Please write in full sentence, not in numbering format. Is there any quotes to support the findings as the study conduct FGD? How the FGD results were analyzed?

Hopefully the above comments may have the authors in improving their paper. All the best.
