 Dear Dr. Eighty Mardiyani Kurniawati:

Your manuscript titled "Obstetrics and Gynecology Residents' Satisfaction and Self-Confidence after Anal Sphincter Injury Simulation-based Workshop" has been received by the Editorial Office of Journal of Educational Evaluation for Health Professions. However, The following issues are raised and your manuscript is now at the stage of incomplete manuscript.

Please resubmit the manuscript after revision.

Please resubmit after the revision as follows:

1. Study size description is incomplete. Please seek specialist to help the description of study size. Posthoc test is required instead of estimation, because the total number of subjects can not be randomized.
2. Add Grant number.
3. In raw data, the before and after the workshop data can not be lucidly differentiated. Add the cell in the raw data in English.
4. Add the workshop materials including video file of the suture by subjects.
5. References in the main text should be written in parenthesis.
6. Remove all references published before 2011. If there are essential references before 2011, please explain why they are essential.
7. In the ORCID of Riska Wahyuningtyas, add full info including employment, education, membership, and works.
8. Receive a professional English proofreading before re-submission.
9. Add structured abstract in the main text.
10. Recommend 3 reviewers whom the authors are familiar with. The colleagues or acquaintances are good. Please get the permission to review the author's manuscript before recommendation. Do not include Dr. Sum Kim as a reviewer. She is an editorial board member.

Author's comment : Dear Editor,

Thank you for your editorial revision and reviewing results.
Here are some statement for confirmation your question:

For editor:

1. I have included the raw data from pre-and posttest confidence, the datas were explained in the excel column
2. I have described the variables in the subtopic variables clearly
3. The inclusion criteria for participants is anyone who never done the anal sphincter repair in patients.
4. I have described the setting explanation more clear about the algorithm of study
5. I have edited the reference data with doi information
6. I will send the video tutorial by email

For reviewer:

Thank you for your advices.

Here are some statements for confirmation you comments:

1. I have mention sillcone-latex model in this study
2. The inclusion criteria for participants is anyone who never done the anal sphincter repair in patients. So, resident with these criteria will be included in our study to repair anal sphincter simulation model before and after workshop in simulation model
3. I have revised the author contribution based on the credit standard
4. I have included the DOI
5. I have tried to proofread this manuscript by English native editor

Reviewer's comments

#1 reviewer :

This manuscript reports the evaluation of a newly developed perineal rupture simulation model, which improves the resident's confidence in performing perineal repair. The author highlights the novelty of creating silicone simulator models in their country. In addition, they clearly described the satisfaction of anatomical structures similarity. However, several issues need to be addressed before acceptance:

1. Line 60 and line 106. Please mention the simulation model material (silicone-latex) to emphasize the novelty of this study.
2. In the inclusion and exclusion criteria (line 83), the authors mentioned the residents had no experience in repairing fourth-degree perineal laceration independently. But in line 79, it required residents to perform laceration repairs before and after the workshop. How would you describe these?
3. Please revise the Author Contributions section according to the CRediT standard.
4. Please include the DOI for the references.
5. The manuscript needs to be proofread by an English native editor.

Comments to Authors
(Editorial Office) : In the raw data, clarify what are pre-intervention and post-intervention results.

1. Remove the names of participants in the data file.
2. Upload the data file for satisfaction (Table 2) and pre-and post-intervention test (Table 3) separately for the lucid presentation.
3. Fix the references according to the journal's style completely. Read the instructions to authors and previous articles at least once meticulously. Complete reference style was an essential requirement before acceptance. If it was not revised completed in the next revision, it will not be considered again.
