to me, Retno

Dear Author,

Your submission "Factors affecting the ability to speak in children with autism spectrum disorders" to Journal of Public Health Research now needs to be proofread.

Please note the following:

- At proofreading stage it is not possible to make any changes other than minor amendments: please restrict your alterations to the correction of factual errors or misspellings. Avoid changes that will cause large amounts of text to move to different pages as it will affect the numbering of index entries, creating extra work and cost.
- Hyphenation of words is not questionable. Hyphens to separate syllables are automatically generated by the computer program, in accordance with the official English syllabification.

If corrections are needed (only minor typographical and format), send a copy (via email) of the PDF, highlighting where they have to be done and accompanied by an email with the list of changes.

eAnnotation of PDF proofs

Annotating PDFs means that your corrections are absolutely clear and that errors can't be introduced through misinterpretation of your markup. If you have access to Acrobat, it may be helpful to mark the corrections in the PDF file using PENCIL and NOTE tools.

To allow for PDF proofing, low-resolution images may have been used in your proof file. However, high-resolution images (if made available) will be used in the final published version.

Galleys will then be sent to Proofreader, Layout Office and Editor-in-Chief for the final corrections.

Thank you for your collaboration.

With best regards,

Nadia Moscato
