Reviewer's Code: 05486540

Dear Dr. Setiawati,

I am sincerely pleased to invite you to review a manuscript submitted for publication in the World Journal of Gastroenterology.

Our assistant editors and science editors have already completed the initial review of this manuscript, and ensured its adherence to the guidelines for manuscript type and related ethics and relevant documents.

Your prompt response is crucial for us to keep with our commitment to completing the peer-review process within a 14-day period for each submitted manuscript. This manuscript (details below) can be downloaded from our F6Publishing system.

Manuscript NO: 76088Title: Indocyanine green for targeted imaging of the gall bladder and fluorescence navigationManuscript Type: Basic Study

Manuscript Core Tip: NIR fluorophores indocyanine green (ICG) will be expected to be excellent imaging and targeting agents in various preclinical and clinical model systems because of its unique physicochemical properties, better imaging view field, excessively high sensitivity, and well-established safety profile. Thus, it can be concluded that fluorescence navigation using ICG fluorescence imaging will provide good visualization and detection of the target lesions (gall bladder) in clinics such as diagnostic medical imaging and intraoperative navigation.

Please provide your acceptance or denial of this invitation to review within 7 days by visiting Peer-Review. Alternatively, you can visit <https://www.f6publishing.com>, input your registered e-mail: rosy-s@fk.unair.ac.id and user password: a9b56d, and click on the "Reviewer Login" button to login to the F6Publishing system. The date of your acceptance or denial of this invitation to review will be recorded in the F6Publishing system.

Please report any conflict of interest or suspicion of duplicate publication, fabrication of data or plagiarism to the editorial office immediately.

Your detailed comments on this manuscript and your recommendation on whether the manuscript should be accepted, revised or rejected are an important contribution towards continually improving the quality of articles published in the World Journal of Gastroenterology, thereby maintaining the excellent quality of the journal itself.

In addition, the privileges of peer reviewers, the peer-review process, criteria checklist for new manuscript peer-review, and ethical norms for peer-review are outlined below.

1 Privileges of Peer Reviewers: Privileges enjoyed by peer reviewers include: (1) Regular invitations to contribute review articles for the journal, for which the publication fee will be waived; (2) A 10% discount of the publishing fee for other articles submitted by the peer reviewer; (3) Public acknowledgement of related contributions to the journal, by posting of the peer reviewer's name and number of manuscripts he/she reviewed on the journal's website. For details, please visit: <https://www.f6publishing.com/HighlyInfluentialPeerReviewers>; and (4) Selection of outstanding peer reviewers to appear as the cover figures published on the cover page of each issue.

2 Peer-Review Process: The peer-review process is single-blinded. Our artificial intelligence system automatically selects 20 external peer reviewers for each manuscript from our database of high-impact experts and scholars. At the same time, our science editor manually selects 10 Editorial Board Members/peer reviewers in a double-blind manner to review the manuscript. Usually, the peer-review process takes 14-28 days to complete.

3 Criteria Checklist for New Manuscript Peer-Review: The criteria checklist for new manuscript peer-review can be obtained by clicking here on download.

4 Ethical Norms for Peer-Review: The ethical norms for peer-review can be obtained by clicking here on download.

Kind Reminder: Peer reviewers are requested to cautiously recommend authors to cite their own published papers. If a peer reviewer recommends the author cite their own papers, he/she must include a specific rationale as why their inclusion is merited, so that the author can decide whether to cite the paper. If the peer reviewer cannot provide sufficient reasons for the request, their opinion will be deemed invalid, the editorial office will delete this comment and close the peer reviewer's account. In addition, the manuscript will be sent to other peer reviewers to review.

We appreciate that your time is valuable and we would like to express our sincere gratitude to you for your support and contribution to the World Journal of Gastroenterology. In addition, you can view your personal review record by logging in to the F6Publishing system at <https://www.f6publishing.com> with your registered e-mail and password.

Any questions you may have regarding the F6Publishing system can be answered by our technical team at: editorialoffice@wjgnet.com or online at the Help Desk: <https://www.f6publishing.com/helpdesk>. All communications regarding this manuscript are privileged.

Once again, we are grateful for your contribution and we look forward to working with you on this manuscript.

Best regards,

Reviewer's Code: 05486540

Dear Dr. Setiawati,

Thank you very much for conducting a peer review of Manuscript NO: 76088 that was submitted for consideration for publication in the World Journal of Gastroenterology. We have received your review comments and would now like to extend invitation to you for continued participation as a peer reviewer for future manuscripts submitted to the World Journal of Gastroenterology.

Peer reviewer comments, such as those you provide, are the basis for our decision-making to either accept or reject a manuscript for publication. In deference to the time and expert contributions made by our peer reviewers, each is acknowledged explicitly on the F6Publishing website. This allows for the Baishideng Publishing Group (BPG) to index the collective peer reviewer ranks, records, and names; you may access them by clicking the following link: <http://www.f6publishing.com/highlyinfluentialpeerreviewers>. In addition, you can view your personal review record by logging in to the F6Publishing system at <http://www.f6publishing.com> with your registered e-mail: rosy-s@fk.unair.ac.id and password: a9b56d.

Finally, we would like to welcome you to submit your own high-quality articles to any of the World series journals published by the BPG. From January 1, 2020, the publication fee will be discounted by 10% for manuscripts contributed by Editorial Board members and Peer-Reviewers. Please indicate your Number ID: 05486540 in the "Corresponding Author's Editorial Board's or Reviewer's Code" text box when you submit a manuscript.

BPG practices an open access and peer review publishing model. Our goals are to maximize the benefits of peer review for our readers, authors, peer reviewers, and editors by providing an open internet-based platform that supports the productive exchange of information regarding the research findings published in our journals, as well as to present the latest scientific knowledge to the public. Our journals cover a wide range of topics, including anesthesiology, biochemistry and molecular biology, cardiology, critical care medicine, dentistry and stomatology, dermatology, diabetes, experimental medicine, gastroenterology and hepatology, hematology, immunology, infectious diseases, medical genetics, medical imaging, methodology, nephrology, neurology, obstetrics and gynecology, oncology, ophthalmology, orthopedics, otorhinolaryngology, pediatrics, pharmacology, psychiatry, respirology, rheumatology, surgery, translational medicine, transplantation, urology, and virology. Please visit our BPG journals for more information at <https://www.wjgnet.com/bpg/journals.htm>.

Thanks again for actively reviewing our manuscripts!
