RESPONSE TO REVIEWER'S COMMENT (1)

Title : Modification of methyl orange dye as a light harvester on solar cell

Code : Full paper GT-156

Reviewer's comment

1. There is not enough data to support the proposed complex structure. There are other possibilities on the structure of the complex, such as the MO ligand coordinated to the Fe center via the sulfat groups. Polymeric complex may also forms in which the MO act as the bridging ligand via the double-bonded nitrogen atom and the sulfate groups. Since there is no sufficient data and good reason, it is suggested that the discussion on the proposed complex structure to be excluded from the manuscript.

Response :

The information about structure metal complexes has added.

In this research, a methyl orange is expected to act as a ligand on complex compounds. The mole ratio of metal to ligand was determined by Job methods [10] and the result is described in Figure 2. Figure 2 shows that mole ratio of metal (iron) to ligand (methyl orange) is 0.3. It means that one mole iron could bind 3 mole of methyl orange. Based on this result, the structure of modified methyl orange is predicted as octahedral and described in Figure 4.

2. The title explicitly mention "waste" but in the experimental work, the MO was not in the form of waste. The result of the experiment may be promising due to there is no other impurities from real waste that may affect the performance of the solar cell. Thus, it is suggested that the "Green Energy from Waste" on the title should be excluded, thus the paper clearly focuses on the modified MO-complex role.

Response :

The title has been changed into " Modification of methyl orange dye as a light harvester on solar cell"

3. There are many grammatical errors and unclear sentences, some correction has been made in the manuscript by the reviewer for suggestion. Please consider to use a proofreader.

Response :

Every errors has been revised based on the suggestion proofreader.

Dear committee of Green Tech 2019,
Herein with this email, I send the abstract that will be joined at Green Tech 2019. I am sorry for the late submission of my abstract.
I hope I am still could join your conference.
Thank you.

Dear Harsasi Setyawati,

We are pleased to inform you that your abstract (ABS-156), entitled: “Green energy from waste: Modification of methyl orange dye as a light harvester on solar cell” has been accepted to be presented at The 10th International Conference on Green Technology 2019 (October 2nd-3rd, 2019 in Savana Hotel Malang, Indonesia) as oral presentation without any revision.

Please submit your full paper file in doc/docx/rtf by email at accept.ICGT@gmail.com immediately before September 14th, 2019 to be considered as selected paper that published IOP Conference Series: Earth and Environmental Science (Scopus-Indexed Publisher) (Template: shorturl.at/IOPtemplate). For unselected paper, will be included in the online proceeding book (ISSN 1492488213) or the author can choose one of the committees recommended journals (http://greentech.uin-malang.ac.id/?page_id=1315). To continue the reviewing process, please inform as soon as possible (before August 26th, 2019) whether you decide publication in IOP Proceeding/Journals or as a presenter only, by replying this email.

The early bird registration fee has been extended up to September 4th, 2019 following the extension of abstract submission until August 11th, 2019. The registration fee must be transferred to the Bank Rakyat Indonesia UIN Maulana Malik Ibrahim Malang (0344-01-000456-30-6, RPL 032 UIN UNTUK DANA KELOLAAN, please add 100 IDR as unique transfer code. For your information, the publication fee is excluded from the registration fee. For IOP publication will be charged 110 USD, Journal of Islamic Architecture, JIA 500.000 IDR, other recommended journals 300.000 IDR and free for online proceeding book. If you already pay, please sent the payment proof by email at accept.ICGT@gmail.com.
