ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There are many studies about language and literature, and the studies will never end because it will open the phenomena for continuing the studies in the field of discourse analysis.

My thesis attempts to expose one of the interesting aspects of Kahlil Gibran's Broken Wings. In this thesis I try to analyze and describe the lexical cohesion that is used by Kahlil in the novel.

I would like to thank to Dr. Subandi, Dra. Ismari, Dra. Sudiyah, M. A., Drs. Harlem Napitupulu, SH., and the lecturers of English Department for their support. In particular, I thank to Drs. Husein Shahab who has advised patiently, edited and shared his ideas in the writing of. Last but not least, I also thank to the members of family : grandmother, father, mother, Anis, Awik, Edy, Nuris, Pipin, Yoshi, and Fanny who also never stop to support me in finishing this thesis.

I hope this thesis will be useful to the readers to get clearer understanding about lexical cohesion.
