

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

The use of codes among Acehnese people in Surabaya is governed by some factors such as the topics, role relationships, and situations.

The language used by Acehnese people living in Surabaya depend on what they speak, whom they speak to, and when they speak. Acehnese people use the language which is appropriate to the interlocutors.

Acehnese society use their regional language in daily communication with interlocutors who are Acehnese. They prefer to speak Acehnese because they feel more intimate with each other..

Indonesian is the second language after the regional language. Indonesian is used in formal topics, non intimate relationships, and formal situations. This is because Indonesian is considered as the most socially 'polite' language. Meanwhile, Acehnese speakers rarely use Javanese in their daily communication.