ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Language attitude as an indicator of ethnic identity is a term discussed under sociolinguistics.

This thesis was about language attitudes of the students of SMA Kristen Petra III Surabaya toward Chinese language as an indicator of their ethnic identity: The writer tried to recognize their attitudes toward Chinese language and to find out if these attitudes reflected their ethnic identity.

Many people gave me useful comments on the drafts of my thesis. In particular, the writer would like to thank Mr. Dede Oetomo and Ika Pranata.

The writer was grateful to Dra. Ismari soewono for understanding the problems, giving her guidance and sharing her ideas, and also to Drs. Napo Napitupulu, the headmaster of SMA Kristen Petra III Surabaya, the staffs, the students of SMA Kristen Petra III Surabaya for the support and cooperation.

The writer must thank her beloved family, Rahdian 'Dan' Mularajan Ramelan, and her friends: Laurensia B., Nurainy, Mas Iwan, Gunawan, Elvi, and all members of UKM Merpati Putih Universitas Airlangga for their love and support. Last but not the least: thank God for Your love, support, and the chance, so I can finish this thesis.

The writer hoped this thesis will be useful for every one and the readers will get deeper understanding about language attitude and ethnic identity, especially language attitudes of Chinese students of SMA Kristen Petra III toward Chinese language as an indicator of their ethnic identity.
