A HEN AND HER CHILDREN

Once upon a time there was an old hen who had 1 children. She loved her children 2 much. Once the hen sat on ducks' eggs, and when the 3 came out, she was very happy. Only she wondered why they had such 4 funny bills. The mother hen said to the ducklings, "I don't know who your 5 is, but I love you all the same."

One day the mother hen took her ducklings out for a 6. When they came to a pond, the ducklings at once went 7 the water and swam out. The mother was very much 8. After a while, the mother hen was 9 frightened again. She was very 10 to see her children swim over the water.

One day she sat on her own eggs. When her 11 chickens came out, she was very happy, too. After a few days, she also took them to the 12. She wanted to see them swim. But the young ones were 13 of the water and would not go down the pond. The mother hen was very 14 with them. "Why don't you swim, my stupid children?" she cried. "You see how beautifully your brothers swim over there." She took two of them and threw them into the pond. Of course they were 15, the poor young things.
