

CHAPTER IV
C O N C L U S I O N

After studying the novel the writer can draw some conclusions as following :

1. The major character of the novel undergoes some serious psychological conflicts which make her extraordinary. It means she becomes different from other women in many things related to the nature of women. Those psychological conflicts are caused by some factors. Those are her opposition against her own nature as a woman, her disagreement towards what people in her society do, and her failure to understand the life.
2. In the beginning of her life till her adulthood, the woman doctor, the major character, does not know who herself is. She fails to accept the reality before her. She needs very hard struggle to find her self-identity. She begins this struggle when she is still a young girl who does not know anything about herself, her sex, her origins, and her nature. She wants to be powerful woman. She wants everybody to submit to her including her own mother who has given birth to her and brought her up. To achieve this wish she chooses the faculty of medicine in order to be a woman doctor. Being a doctor is a great pride and makes her respected by everybody. However, she
