

Bibliography

- Abrams, M. H. The Mirror and The Lamp: Romantic Theory and The Critical Tradition. New York: Oxford University Press, Inc, 1953.
- Altrocchi, John. Abnormal Behaviour. New York: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich, Inc, 1980.
- Barry, Peter. Beginning Theory: An Introduction to Literary and Cultural Theory. Manchester: Manchester University Press, 1995.
- Bruno, Frank J. Dictionary of Keywords in Psychology. London: Routledge & Kegan Paul plc, 1986.
- Burger, Jerry M. Personality: Theory and Research. California: Wadsworth Publishing Company, 1986.
- Coleman James C. Abnormal Psychology and Modern Life. 5th Edition. Glenview, Illinois: Scott, Foresman and Company, 1976.
- Ziegler, D. J. (Raymond J. Corsini ed). 'Pedophilia'. Encyclopedia of Psychology. Vol 2. Toronto: John Wiley & Sons, Inc, 1984.
- Corsini, Raymond J. and Alan J. Aurebach. Concise Encyclopedia of Psychology. 2nd Edition. New York: John Wiley & Sons, Inc, 1996.
- Drabble, Margaret. The Oxford Companion to English Literature. New York: Oxford University Press, 1995.
- Durand, V. Mark and David H. Barlow. Essentials of Abnormal Psychology. 3rd Edition. Toronto: Thomson Learning, Inc, 2003.
- Forgus, Ronald and Bernard Shulman. Personality: A Cognitive View. New Jersey: Prentice Hall, Inc, 1979.

- Freud, Sigmund. The Interpretation of Dreams. Vol 4. Penguin Freud, 1900.
- Lothstein, L.M. (Nicholas Gallucci ed). Psychological Theories of Pedophilia and Ephebophilia. http://www.vax.wcsu.edu/library/er_gallucci_PSY339_theories_10-22-97.html, 1997. 15 November 2002
- Ganguli, H.C. Behavioral Research in Sexuality. New Delhi: Vikas Publishing House PVT Ltd, 1988.
- Gore,PaulA.Pedophilia.<http://www.umkc.edu/sites/hsw/issues/pedophil.htm>,1998.
26 March 2003
- Harre, Rom and Roger Lamb (ed). The Encyclopedic Dictionary of Psychology. Cambridge: The MIT Press, 1983.
- Hart, Betsy. Betsy Hart: Is it pedophilia?.
<http://www.naplesnews.com/02/05/perspective/d766708a.htm>, 2002. 26
March 2003
- Irwing G. Sarason. Abnormal Psychology: The Problem of Maladaptive Behaviour. 2nd Edition. New Jersey: Prentice Hall, Inc, 1976.
- Kenan, C. Hugh Holman. A Handbook to Litarature. 4th Edition. The Bobbs-Merril Company, Inc, 1980.
- Lindemann, Erich (Harold C. Stuart and Dane G. Prugh ed). 'The Ingredients of Personality'. The Healthy Child. Cambridge: Harvard University Press, 1960.
- Little, Graham. Approach to Literature: An Introduction to Literary and Cultural Theory. Manchester and New York: Manchester University Press, 1996.
- McDonald, Ronald. The Pedophilia/Pedophile Education Web Site Mirror. <http://lege.cz/win.en/archiv/pedo1.htm>, 1997. 26 March 2003

- Michaels, Marina. Childhood, Sex, and Love: Understanding Pedophilia. - <http://www.thelighthouseonline.com/marina/channel/sexoffen.html>, 2002.
26 March 2003
- Nabokov, Vladimir. Lolita. London: Everyman Publisher plc, 1956.
- Narth . The Problem of Pedophilia. <http://www.Narth.com/docs/pedophNEW.htm>,
1998. 15 November 2002
- Peterson, Heather Elizabeth. Defining Adult Attraction to Minors.
<http://www.philianews.org/define.htm>, 2000. 15 November 2002
- Roberts, Edgar V. Writing Themes about Literature. London: Cox and Wyman
Ltd, 1973.
- Seligman, Martin E. P. et all. Abnormal Psychology. 4th Edition. New York: W.
W. Norton & Company, 2001.
- Wellek, Rene and Austin Warren. The Theory of Literature. London: Penguin Books Ltd, 1978.

APPENDIX

SYNOPSIS

APPENDIX

SYNOPSIS

Lolita is written by Vladimir Nabokov, a Russian novelist that finally emigrated to United Kingdom. The story is started with Humbert's confession in prison. He traces back his past life of his pedophilic behaviour and explains his reasons of murdering Quilty.

First of all, he describes his childhood in Riviera, France. He tells how happy his life was before her mother passed away of a lightning accident when he was three-years-old. Although Humbert's father was a rich man for owning a luxurious hotel in Riviera, and his aunt took care of him, Humbert still felt unhappy about his motherlessness. As the time changed, Humbert grew as a young boy. He was thirteen-years-old when he met Annabel, a girl whose age was few months younger than Humbert's age. He adored her very much because she was a beautiful girl of a mixed parentage (Dutch and English) just like him whose mother was a Swiss and father was a French. Annabel then became Humbert's life center for he fell in love with her, and Annabel seemed to have the same feeling upon him. Unfortunately, this premature love ended with the death of Annabel for she suffered thypus. This fact traumatized Humbert very deeply and disturbed his life development process.

Some years had gone and Humbert became a young man. He found out that his life was not normal for he was not interested in girls of his age. Humbert describes his life at that time in a very ironical description, and this kind of life continued until he became a matured man. Humbert was totally aware that the only temptation for him was little girls. Though he realized so, he decided to marry Valeria, a matured woman, to cover his abnormality up, but it did not work for he dressed Valeria up just like a little girl. They finally divorced and Humbert decided to leave France for United States of America to accept his uncle's bequeath for him.

In the new country, Humbert never had a fix occupation. One day when Humbert moved to New England countryside to continue his work on his scholarly exertions, he was suggested to live in Mrs. Haze's house in Lawn Street. In this house Humbert met Lolita, a thirteen-year-old girl who was very identical to Annabel. Therefore, Humbert tried everything to get closer to Lolita, including marrying Lolita's mother, Charlotte Haze. But Humbert's effort seemed to have no result for Charlotte was a dominant woman. She ruled the house, Lolita, and of course Humbert as her husband. Related to Charlotte's character, Charlotte was very mad when she found out Humbert's diary that exposed Humbert real intention and feeling of both Lolita and Charlotte. When she ran out of the house, a car stroke her that caused her had to loose her life.

At night, after Charlotte's burial ceremony, Humbert left the house to pick Lolita up from her summer camp. Instead of taking Lolita home and telling her about her mother's death, Humbert took Lolita away and traveled over the States. In one of the motels, where Humbert and Lolita spent their night, Humbert tried to molest Lolita, but he finally quit his attempt to satisfy his desire because he realized that it was inappropriate and for he loved Lolita too much so that he was afraid to hurt her.

When Humbert and Lolita arrived at Beardsley town, Humbert decided to put Lolita in Beardsley College, and to work in that college as a teacher. In the college, Lolita joined dancing and drama that she liked most, but Humbert unfortunately disliked both of them. Since Humbert and Lolita always had different opinion, conflicts between them grew bigger. Finally, Lolita left Humbert without Humbert knew about it. She ran away with her drama tutor, Quilty, who became her husband at last. Although Lolita had left him alone, Humbert still look for Lolita in every city. But the searching seemed to stop when Humbert met Rita, a matured woman with whom Humbert could live normally.

One day, Humbert's peaceful life had to be disturbed by Lolita's letter that he accepted. In her letter Lolita said that she was in difficult condition at that time. His husband left her and she needed some money to pay her debts. Therefore, she asked Humbert to send some money for her. She also said that she was pregnant at that time. Humbert was very angry receiving that letter. He was enraged for knowing that Lolita's husband, Quilty, had abandoned her in poor condition. He, then, decided to take a very long trip to find Quilty and killed him by a gun that he carried with him just like he had planned in his mind before. After doing the murder, Humbert gave and surrendered himself to the police. The police put Humbert in jail and he remained there until there was a trial upon his case. But this trial was never held for Humbert finally died of coronary thrombosis in the prison.