ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

First of all, I would worship the Almighty God, for His blessing gives me strength and spirit to finish this thesis at proper time.

Special acknowledgement goes to S. E. Widjajati, Dra., M. S., as thesis advisor, who gave considerable support for the thesis and guidance, wisely pointing out the weaknesses and recommending improvements. Acknowledgement is also due to Mrs. Soemarto D., Dra., M. Ed., A. Rachman, Drs., Christinawati, Dra., Soemitro, Drs., Mrs. Sudijah, Dra., Husein Shahab, Drs., Harlem N., Drs., and others, who gave me much useful advice and valuable knowledge during the study in the English Department of Airlangga University.

I am most grateful to my mommy and daddy, brother, and sister for their endless love, encouragement, and trust, that I must have been able to finish my study.

Thanks also go to my dear best friends, Rudy and Rachma, who gave encouragement and love—(I always love you, guys), Erry and Dien Prabowo for inspiring confidence and greater efforts, Nova, Elisa, Rima, Cynthia, Daisy, Linea, Dicky, and others for their kindness and friendship during the time I study in Airlangga University.

(vii)

This thesis presents a plain interpretation of Eugene O'Neill's play, Long Day's Journey Into Night. Due to my limited knowledge, it is not perfect, in fact, it needs a great deal of improvements. And, I would certainly welcome all the readers' comments, critiques, or suggestions to provide for improvements.
