ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The writer is interested to present this topic when she is aware that there is a tendency that the way girls speak is different from boys. Departing from this reality she wants to know deeper whether or not their language choice related to the social status of the speakers with the assumption that language choice of lower social class people is different from higher social class people.

Now the writer has finished composing this thesis. And she wishes to thank God for hearing and realizing her prayers.

Further, the writer would like to acknowledge the usefull guidess she received from Mr. Subandi and Miss. Ismari. Thanks to the Head Master of SMA I Ponorogo, Pak Tris, Bu Ning, Eny and students of SMA I Ponorogo who help her in finishing her questionairies, thanks to Denti and Hevy for the long discussions, thanks to Mas Agus for repairing her typewriter, thanks to dik Aris for copying the text and also to those whose names are not mentioned here. Finally, the writer would like to thank all her families, her grandmother, her parents, her sisters and her brother, mbak Sum and Pak Tardi who have suported and given her spirit to finish her study. Responsibility for the formulation presented here must remain her own.
