First of all, I would like to say Alhamdulillah to thank Allah S.W.T. for everything He gives me to accomplish this thesis. I dedicate this to my beloved English Department of Airlangga University.

I would like to express my great gratitude to Mrs. Dra. Sudijah S., M.A. as my thesis advisor for her irreplaceable encouragement, suggestions, guidance and patience that I finally can finish this thesis. I wish also to acknowledge my appreciation to all the English lecturers who have given me a very worthwhile knowledge and a special thank to Mr. Drs. Hariawan Adji, S.T. for helping, supporting, and lending me books in doing research.

I must say a particularly thank to Diyah who gives me the idea of this thesis to Tro', Esti, Uuk, and Irma for being my faithful pals; to Titik, Yentur, Yuliani, Maya, Ariesta for having such 'special events' with me as we usually have done at my home. Thanks are also due to all the '94 students, boys and girls that I cannot mention one by one for being with me during these five years of study.

My gratitude also goes to Tina, my dearest friend for being a faithful listener who gives her hands and supports anytime I need, and to all of the teachers and students of SMUN 4 Surabaya who so are conscientiously and scrupulously responded to my questionnaires and tests.

Eventually, I especially thank to my beloved mother who gives me love, care, and prayers. An additionally special thanks goes to my dearest brothers and sisters for their loves and supports. I love you all and May Allah give His Blessings to all of us.
