Acknowledgments

First and foremost, I would like to praise Lord the Almighty for being the hope, faith and love of my life. He also arranges me to meet some wonderful people to whom I would like to give appreciation since they help me see the right path.

I thank Dra. Christinawati for being my great, supportive thesis advisor with all her patience, and all the lecturers in the English Department for giving me knowledge that really gives a big contribution to what I am doing now.

I actually write this thesis as a contemplative process, in which I owe a great deal to Mrs. Melly. We share our thoughts on how to see life, and I especially present my work to her. Her support is countless and may Lord add the fruit of her work.

During the writing of this thesis, I was experiencing countless obstacles that in many ways pushed me to give up. I have my beloved Wicaksono who was guiding me to the issues I must focus, and may Lord take care of us in the way He intends us to be.

Lastly, my love to my family in which I hope they understand the essence of this thesis. This also goes to my friends, especially in the class of '96, that although it is not well spoken, I always remember the good and the bad times as the most fascinating life I have ever had. Thank you Rina for being my 'sparing partner' and Erlita who was assisting me with the finishing process.

For the readers, I realize that this thesis is far from excellence and therefore, I welcome criticism and suggestion.
