Man does not only know about God's existence, but also close to God. Because man who called a perfect creature has a mind and sense. His mind brings to conclusion about God's existence, while his sense brings man close to God. It is suitable to what Wordsworth said in the poem that the acceptance of nature as a whole with combine his thought and sense. If so, it can be said that nature pierces material and spiritual life. Both material and spiritual will walk together so man will get a balancing progression in the world and in the future.
