

ABSTRACT

Guarantee the protection of Human Rights. Security, protection, and respect for human rights is not likely to grow and live naturally in the absence of democracy and the implementation of the principles of state based on law. The principle of state based on law means to control the government power, especially rulers. Citizenship is belongs to human right. Citizenship status with rights and obligations for the owner. A citizen has a reciprocal relationship between the state and its citizens. State shall ensure the right of a citizen ownership that includes civil rights, political rights, economic rights, social, and cultural. While obligations as a holder of Indonesian citizenship status has been established Constitution. Lost of the citizenship means lost of rights and obligations that person to the country concerned. The loss of citizenship status resulted in the breakup of a citizen to his country . Status of citizenship is the right of citizens is important and special. By having the citizenship rights as citizens will be easily met by the state or government. Lack of clarity citizenship status is also useful for the government in carrying out its duties

Keywords : citizenship, human rights, recovery