

ABSTRACT

ANALYSIS OF THE IMPLEMENTATION CORELATION FOR FAMILY HEALTH DUTY BY THE OCCURANCES OF MALNUTRITION TOWARD KIDS UNDER FIVE YEARS OLD IN PUSKESMAS PASIRIAN LUMAJANG REGENCY

The Descriptive Research

By: Dewi Agustina Ayu Ningsih

Malnutrition is the less of eating process when daily necessary for one or some nutrients does not completed or those nutrients disappeared with the large number from the obtained of data. The aims of this research is to identify the relation of family health duty by the occurances of malnutrition toward kids under five years old in work Puskesmas Pasirian distrinct, Lumajang Regency.

This descriptive research method used cross sectional method. The respondent of this research is mother who has malnutrition kids under five years old in work estate of Pasirian distrinct. An independent variable is implementation for family health duty and the dependent variable is malnutrition. The sample was 131 respondents which used consecutive sampling. The data analysis using spearman rho with the level of sense $\alpha < 0,05$.

The result of this research shows the relation between implementation of family health duty by occurances malnutrition through the significant $p=0,000$ which is showed implementation of best family health duty. It influences the status of kids under five year's nutrition.

The conclusion of this research is there was a relation between implementation of family health duty and the occurances malnutrition towards kids under five years old.

Keywords: The implementation of family health duty, malnutrition, kids under five years old.