

ABSTRACT
TEEN HOUSE IS A MODEL OF ADOLESCENT EMPOWERMENT IN CONTEXT OF ADOLESCENT REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH

Teen House's Model is a form of collaboration of stakeholders (government agencies, non governmental agencies and educational institutions) had been to providing training in adolescent reproductive health. Teen Houses become a pilot project to develop adolescents empowerment with the cooperation between government agencies, non governmental agencies and educational institution was presented to effort the adolescent program at Tanah Kalikedinding district in early 2011. The stakeholder has provided support and guidance to local teens. Lately, The development effort was done with given to teens the training never an ongoing program so easily lost

In general, this study aims at an overview guidance to adolescents to reproductive health problems that are implemented into Youth Houses. The specific objective of this study is to describe a model house juveniles are implemented during the construction of this has been done and analyze the needs and expectations of youth to Youth Home as an input to develop the Teens House.

This type of study is in qualitative descriptive study was conducted with deductive approaches. Data is collected from June to July 2011. Data collection by conducting interviews and cites the existing literature as a basis for good research library of books, articles, website or internet official memo, photo documentation and archival material of Teen House.

This analysis results of the empowerment of adolescents in Tanah Kalikedinding adolescent reproductive health after interviews were conducted with respondents in their ability to follow the formation of Peer Educator after the result is the ability of different teens. Some respondents felt was able to use his ability, but some are not able or less confident that the stages in the process of empowerment by Wilson (1996) so that the PE is in the first position that is awakening or awareness and utilizing hammesing position 3. PE aware of the abilities, attitudes and skills that have not been in line with expectations. So that they feel to need a lot to learn and practice. adolescent knowledge and expertise is very important in providing support to their peers.

The conclusion of this study was the establishment of Youth House is one of effective efforts to synergize the programs owned by pemerintah, non governmental and intansi education in empowering youth to address youth issues in the field of reproductive health. Cooperation between the health center Kalikedinding Land, FKM PKIP Unair Rotary Club and as a promotr in the formation of this Youth House. Expected to house juvenile that has formed will be able to become a pilot project for the establishment Teen Houses in other areas especially to district areas.

Keywords: Tanah Kalikedinding Teens House Model, teen empowerment,
Adolescent Reproductive Health