

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

After doing the internship, the writer concludes that English is important to be learned. English is not only necessary in the field of education, but also technology and business. Meanwhile, English is usually taught as a subject in schools with an aim of basic communication and master the four language skills (listening, reading, writing and speaking). English also can be learned through television, music, computer and internet. It is a medium that connects people around the world.

English can be learned through formal and informal education. Informal education such as learning from the environment, television, cell phones and taking a course in English courses; formal education such as learning at schools. People should develop and update their knowledge with the latest information to support their quality of life. It is one of the purposes why people should learn English.

The writer got a great opportunity to be a teacher and also got many great experiences while doing the internship at SMP Al-Hikmah Surabaya. The writer learned how to maintain a sense of responsibility as a teacher, create lesson plans, provide an assessment of the student worksheets, create worksheets for students and the most important is teaching in class 7. The writer also knew how to control classroom with different background in different classes. It was not easy, but she required to think the ways to overcome them.

During the internship, the writer also could apply her knowledge she got in English Diploma program, specifically TEFL for managing problems in the classroom. Those were precious moment for the writer to develop her knowledge widely in the future.

The writer was very thankful after doing an internship at SMP Al-Hikmah Surabaya. The teacher, student, and school staffs were warmly welcoming the writer. The togetherness in the teachers' room itself made the writer did not feel shy to ask something related to her job as a teacher, so that the knowledge from supervisor can be understood and it was the factor that assist the writer in doing her internship.
