

ABSTRACT

TPP Agreement also known as the most superior trade agreement in the twentieth century has a broaden universe impact on each aspects of trade. The elimination tariff is the core concept on what market access should be in platform of TPP Agreement. Vietnam and United States are two from eleven countries whi have engaged that will be examine in this analysis. How could their tariff compatible with the condition of Tariff in TPP, and how they still manage in stable. Nevertheless, many countries are s eeking to join this agreement, and so does Indonesia. the concept of liberalization trade would be compatible or not depend on the countires power .the Trade Act of Indonesia encompasses that all tarif must set in order based on the condition. Here we go, seeing Indonesia strenght on its economics compare to their legal status would be magnificent to be researched about. many academicians believed that the TPP does not cover all surplus toward Indonesia's economics at all, for example in the rice field as well. here, we have some datas provided for this statement cmpared with the legal basis that we had regarding the import activities toward paddy as a source of Indonesia's agriculture. With a conseptual approach, we seek a conclusion will be accessible for Indonesia regarding his intention toward TPP Agreement by analizing from the tariff perspectives, a rice import as a Indonesia's food security strategy.
