

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION

Information can give disparity point of view, acknowledge, and appraise the society to view the world in past, present, and future. All of the information is gathered in a medium which is consumed by a large number of people. The one and the first mass medium that still productive until now is newspaper. Newspaper has special ways to attract the society for getting the information. Newspaper can expound actual, outstanding, informative, and the latest news every day from all over the world. In Indonesia, the most popular and the largest newspaper company is Jawa Pos. Jawa Pos provides news from Indonesia and other countries as well.

During the internship in Jawa Pos as a translation-journalist in International Division, started from 7th February up to 14th February 2014, the writer had a responsibility and contribution for producing international news. The writer learned something new in journalism field by the task which the writer got during her internship, such as searching news from foreign news agencies, combining news from one source with the other sources, translating news in Bahasa Indonesia, and editing the news by using some understandable words.

In the other hand, working as a translation-journalist in International Division at Jawa pos was honorable for the writer. Knowing and also learning new experience in journalism field, made the writer very enthusiastic and proud to be the part of Jawa Pos family. The writer felt the atmosphere was very friendly and enjoyable. The writer suggests that the staff in Jawa Pos especially in International Divison should keep up the good work to gain more acvhievements. In the next time, the writer recommends Jawa Pos always to be the place for having the internship because the company has a good track record in journalism field and also the company is a perfect place to do the internship related to the major of Business Communication in English Diploma.