

ABSTRACT

The Purpose of this research is to find out the implementation the law No. 22 Year 1999 concerning with the Local Administration in the Regency of Banyumas. Besides, in line with the implementation of the local autonomy in the whole territory of the Republic of Indonesia, also this research will analyse the implementation of local autonomy it self.

The method of this research is the method of comparative and analytical descriptive by using legal approach. This method is done by analysing the norms or the law regulation as the basic law of the impelementation of the Law No. 22 Year 1999 and the comparation study to the law No. 5 Year 1974.

The conclusion shows that the implementation that has been done in th Regency of Banyumas are the implementation of the authority of Banyumas Regency, the forming of the local legislation, the forming of the local agency, the pattern of the organization of the Regency Government, the organization of the local technical institution, the organization of the Sub District and the organization of the Village. Meanwhile, againts to the local authority, the forming of local legislation and the forming of local agency are as follows : the authority of the regency consist of the obliged authority and non obliged authority, in the forming of local agency in Regency of Banyumas there are consist of 14 (fourteen) local agencies and in the forming of local legislation, the draft of the local legislation can be made both by the Regent or the Local Legislature and the Local Legislation is signed only by the Local Head/Regent.

The problem and the way how to solve the problem in the implementation of the Law No. 22 Year 1999 takes in force in Regency of Banyumas are as follows : first, in the authority of Regency there is no clear limitation to describe in detail the authority it self and the way to solve is by inviting some experts from the University in Purwokerto to participate in solving the problem; second, in forming the local agency there is any lateliness in handing over the analyse of job description from each job unit and the way to solve is by holding the coordination meeting between the Team of Local Organization with the Job Unit; third, in forming the Local Legislation there is the difference of educational grade of the member of the Local Legislature and there is no single majority anymore in the Local Legislature and the way to solve is by holding such education for the member both held by the Local Legislature and the Political Party it self.

Keyword : Autonomy
Authority