

ABSTRACT

This research done in Kelurahan Mangunharjo, Kecamatan Mayangan Kotamadya Daerah Tingkat II Probolinggo was intended to know the people's attitude performed in positive behavior toward establishing small, happy, and prosperous family. With reference from the law communication process informed by the executing personal of the birth control program, will be studied its effect to the number of children in the family in realization properous family agree with article 23 of law 1992 number 10.

The method of the number of children regulation with the effective, selected and rational contraceptive, clearly most viewing the result.

70 respondents were taken from a simple random sampling method with the qualification, that they are married woman with an interval of age of 25 up to 39 years and being an active birth control acceptor.

The research result shows that the law communication process done in the information from by field personal of the birth control, factually able to increase the number of active birth control confessions in the research location.

In the other hand, it is also invented that the woman's education increase, can increase the first marriage age, participation in the working activities and also increase the families income. So that it can support to reach the happy and prosperous small family.

Key Words : positive behavior, the number of children, Communication process, field personal