Reviewer(s)' Comments to Author:

Reviewer: 1

Comments to the Corresponding Author

Title: The title does not illustrate the abstract and the contents clearly.

The whole article discusses on the language used rather than on clarity of the contract.

Abstract: The author mention 'what steps' whereas the step is only usage of English as the language in the contract.

Content: The discussion in subheading 'The Nature of a Commercial Contract' is not connected to the idea of creating clarity to the commercial contract (as in the title)

The subheading before conclusion is misleading as there is absence of international law perspective. There is no discussion on international law. (discussion on ASEAN does not address the international law perspective)

General: the discussion lack the points relevant to support the idea mentioned in the title.

Reviewer: 2

Comments to the Corresponding Author

This is an informative draft and relevant to the implementation of contract in the contemporary context of economic and trade development in Indonesia. However, there are notes to be taken into consideration should this draft entitle "Creating Clarity in International Commercial Contracts for Guaranteeing Legal Certainty in Indonesia" be published in the Academic Journal.

1. There are some grammatical problems need to be corrected and furnished accordingly.

2. The author need to write a thorough and critical analysis on the holdings and rationale of the Judge (Court) and ; wherever possible should be supported with a comparative study and or analysis.

3. The author must write a detailed explanation concerning the necessary efforts in ensuring legal certainty in the process of implementing contract in Indonesia in line with the existing legislation and case law ; as well as measures should be taken by Indonesia in the framework of making adjustment with the regional and global context of trade liberalization and transparency.

4. Concrete, doable recommendation must be outlined accordingly by the author in order to respond the existing legal context and economic interest.

Reviewer: 3

Comments to the Corresponding Author

I am of the opinion that the methodology part could be expanded and explained further. Currently, it is too brief. Apart from this, the article is in very good shape and may be accepted. It is a well written article with no grammatical mistakes.
