

CHAPTER IV

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

4.1. Conclusion

From the previous chapter I can conclude that there were two major types of news that I used during the internship which were primary and secondary source. Therefore, interviewing the secondary sources was easier than the primary ones and most of the secondary source was coming from ordinary people. An intern is not really get the privilege to do an exclusive interview with powerful figures. It is because in The Jakarta Post an intern is not officially required to write, but I decided to do so because I wanted some experiences which got approved by my mentor. Since I was in City Desk which produces urban news and having ordinary people was common. It does not work the same if I were placed in Nasional Desk because the newsworthy people can be from several layer of social status.

The next is there were two major methods that I used in gathering information for news sources which were from online information and interview. There two common websites that I used which were KOMPAS and Berita Jakarta. Also, I got to interview newsworthy people to get further information regarding the news story. Having to interview different types of people have helped to get to know how to handle people and also I got to learn that being a person who lives in digital era bring so much use for my life. I could not get easy way to get the methods of gathering information for news sources without the help of internet. It also makes me think that if people think internet brings bad outcome, they should ask themselves 'how come' the answer might be them.

Lastly is that all the life lessons that I learned during my time in Jakarta was priceless. All the lessons that I got from living there will forever be my most important life lessons that I need to remember. Now I appreciate food more than anything for I knew how it felt to starve myself to death just because I did not want my family to always transfer money. I appreciate my family for always being there for me when no one does since they were the only ones who were there to help me. I appreciate life more than anything now and despite all the struggles that I had to go through, I will never forget my decision to challenge myself by living alone.

4.2. Suggestion

4.2.1. Suggestion for The Jakarta Post

My suggestion for The Jakarta Post is that to at least look for their interns. I know that it is not a paid-internship, but at least give them free food since most of your interns are coming from different city, even different country. Free food will do just fine. Despite it, I just wanted to say keep up all the good work because you have helped Indonesia to be recognized by the world.

4.2.2. Suggestion for D-III English Language

My suggestion for my beloved major is that to do more collaboration with great companies out there. I believe that many great companies out there that have not had the chance to the collaboration. Especially, for media company, I suggest to expand partnership with other media companies.
