Dear Dr. Hariyanto,

We have received the reviewers' reports and both reviewers have positive evaluations on this article. However, there are still some minor but crucial suggestions to this article, including the request to improve the English writing. I recommend you to revise this article according to both reviewers' comments. After that, I will make a new decision on the revised version.

With my best,

Pei-Chun Liao

Comments to the Author

The manuscript "Gene Expression of Antioxidant Enzymes and Heat Shock Proteins in Tropical Seagrass Thalassia hemprichii under Heat Stress" authored by Purnama et al. describes how the seagrass T. hemprichii responds to heat stress in term of changes in the gene expression profiles of stress-related genes.

I found the study very interesting; new primers for cDNA amplification of important genes including housekeeping ones are provided and will be useful for further studies. Moreover, the expression profile of the genes tested is clear and well explained in the discussion section. I have few comments, reported below, but I think the manuscript can be accepted after minor revisions.

Comments:

-Introduction: I think that some lines introducing the studied species should be added.

-Materials and Methods: it is not clear to me how the 5 biological replicates come from: are they five different RNA extractions of 5 different individuals? This should be better explained in the text.

-Conclusion: authors could also propose, in a further study, to test the same genes with different stresses or combination of stresses (heat, desiccation..). Moreover, western blot could be performed to quantify the protein levels.

-Many typos are present in text, and should be corrected. I list some of them:

L9 pag1: plants

L11 pag1: mechanisms

L16 pag1: increase

L16 pag1: plants

L16 pag1: defense AND protect

L30 pag2: a full stop is missing

L22 pag3: H2O2

L22 pag3: H2O

L27 pag3 and throughout the text: HspX should not have the space between "Hsp" and the number

L24 pag4: d-1

L34 pag4: 10 µl

L4 pag5: Primer design.

L31 pag5: groups

L3 pag8: have

L25 pag10: H2O

L28 pag11: a full stop is missing

Comments to the Author

This is a straight forward manuscript and worth to publish in Taiwania. However, there are considerable areas of English grammar concern, such as unclear statement or typos, in this paper. Authors have to response to the following suggestions and questions for further consideration.

1. Please review your paper from the point of English grammar before re-submission.
2. Does sHSP gene in Thalassia hemprichii have any homologous genes? It is not suitable to conclude that sHSP gene has lower expression yield under heat stress if author verify only one member of sHSP genes. So do SOD, APX, CAT, Hsp70 or Hsp80 genes.
3. How do authors define molecular indicators or molecular markers in this manuscript?
